Winsted Achieves ISO 9001 Certification

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug 16, 2009 — Winsted Corporation, a worldwide leader in technical furniture solutions, today announced it has achieved the ISO 9001:2008 Quality Management System Certificate from the International Organization for Standardization (ISO).

The achievement of ISO 9001 certification acknowledges Winsted's long-standing reputation of supplying quality technical control room furniture. The award demonstrates Winsted's commitment to quality management and provides a foundation for continuous improvement, facilitating further enhancements to their customer service levels.

Terry Shough, general manager of Winsted Ltd., commented, "ISO is something we have been determinedly working toward and complements procedures we have had in place for some time. The company's flexibility in terms of design and installation options is Winsted's formula for complete customer satisfaction and ISO will help continue this ethos, as we continue to expand our customer driven business."

ISO standards have come to be regarded as globally accepted norms for quality assurance and are recognized in 162 countries around the world.

"Achieving this award is the beginning of an opportunity to improve even more," said Shough. "I am very pleased with the results of the efforts of all our staff in the achievement of this internationally recognized certification."
