WINSTED ACHIEVES GREENGUARD CERTIFICATION

MINNEAPOLIS, June 2016 — Winsted Corporation (www.winsted.com), a worldwide leader in control room console solutions, today announced the company's recent GreenGuard Certification.

GreenGuard Environmental Institute, which is a division of Underwriters Laboratory, evaluates manufacturing processes, product materials and finished goods. Finished products such as: control room consoles, technical furniture, credenzas, conference room tables, shelving and more must fall within the established indoor air quality standards for low chemical and particle emissions.

Winsted achieved the worldwide GreenGuard Certification by submitting several product lines to U.L. for precise testing procedures. Some of the tested components include: substrate materials, PVA glues, plastic laminates, powder coated baked enamel finishes on aluminum, and steel components. Winsted's international manufacturing practices and finished products complied with the organization's comprehensive standards for low emissions of volatile organic compounds (VOCs), which helps everyone breathe just a little easier.

Winsted Consoles and Workstations offered under the GreenGuard Certificate include: Atlas, Envision, E-Soc, FreeForm, Horizon, Impulse, Matrix, M-View, Prestige (Ascend, Insight, Sight-line and Slat-Wall), Pro-Series Equipment Racks, Reception Desks and Talon2.

The certification allows manufacturers the opportunity to improve indoor air quality with U.L. recognized products and helps consumers make well-informed choices when considering environmental health and safety.
